Amur Minerals Corporation
("Amur" or "the Company")

Company Website Migrating To New Provider

In accordance with AIM regulatory requirements, Amur Minerals Corporation (AIM: AMC) was required to announce the recent intermittent lack of availability of the Company's website, www.amurminerals.com during a three day period beginning 9 December 2013. The Company is now announcing that the problem has been resolved and the website is readily available and stable.

During investigation into the problem noted 9 December 2013, the Company confirmed that the existing service provider was unable to adequately support the site subsequent to the Company's recent upgrade, redesign and comprehensive update of the website. In response to this problem, the Company will be transferring to a more fully experienced provider also experienced in higher levels of system security over the course of the Christmas and New Year holidays. During this period, the website may occasionally be unavailable whilst the website is being migrated to the new provider. The Company will maintain its address as www.amurminerals.com and apologises for any inconvenience this may cause.
